Joliet businessmen Rick and Jim Chignoli know how helpful a local banker can be.

At First Community Bank, their banker not only lives and works here, he is the decision maker. With complete authority to extend credit and deliver prompt loan approvals for expansion and improvements. Which means the Chignoli family can do business without a lot of hassle or red tape.

What’s more, their banker monitors Will County’s pulse and helps them expand their business network in the community.

If you are ready for a bank where local people work with local people, come see us.
